Delivery charges: Remember, you can use your points to cover the delivery cost of whatever you redeem your points for. We divide our delivery charges into eight levels, listed above. These delivery charges (in addition to the number of Altitude points required for the reward item) can either be debited to your Altitude credit card, or if you prefer, you can nominate to use your points to cover delivery charges. Just follow the simple steps when you redeem online, or tell the operator if you call to redeem. In most cases, vouchers will be dispatched within 5 business days and products will be dispatched within 10 business days. Charges will differ depending on the product you have chosen. Delivery to addresses off the mainland of Australia, for example, Norfolk Island or regional areas, will be charged at actual costs that may exceed the delivery charges outlined in this rewards catalogue. You'll be notified before dispatch should excess delivery charges apply to your redemption. We may require that some reward vouchers and certain other rewards be couriered rather than posted to you. Where this is the case, we'll let you know and will require you to pay the courier charges.
